The contestants appearing in the final will have 2 hours to prepare the recipe. They will not have an assistant and must prepare seven servings – one for each member of the Panel, and an additional one to be displayed to the public and the press. The contestants will start cooking at 11:00 a.m. and they will go to their cooking stations over 10-minute intervals.

The order of participation will be established by a draw and the contestants will be informed in advance.

Each of the cooking stations will be equipped with a worktop and a stove with at least two hobs. At the back, there will be a refrigerator, a sink, a convection oven and a microwave oven to be shared between two stations. The chefs should each bring any other equipment, as well as work utensils and plates.

Contestants must wear suitable professional clothing: a white chef coat, dark trousers and suitable footwear. The clothing cannot have any inscription, brand, logo or advertisement. Contestants who infringe this rule will be automatically disqualified and expelled from the competition. The organisers will provide a coat or apron with the logos of the Championship and its sponsors, which the contestants must wear. Appearance, cleanliness when preparing the dishes and conduct on the stand will also be assessed by the Panel.

All preparation will be done on-site. The chefs will bring enough raw ingredients to prepare 7 servings, except for the selected oil(s), which will be provided by the Provincial Council of Jaén.

The Provincial Council will provide both transport to and from the place of residence for each of the finalists, as well as their accommodation during the final stage. These costs will be financed by the budgetary account 2017.410.9200.22699.
