Prize dynamic and process

The recipe selection comprises three stages.

In the eliminatory first stage, all of the applications will be assessed. To do this, the Judges will act in accordance with the following assessment criteria:

1. The recipes are prepared with the olive oils selected from the latest Jaén Selección 2021 Tasting Competition. The combination of the olive oil with the ingredients used in the recipe will be assessed.
2. The recipes shall be practicable and understandable, in the opinion of the Judges.
3. The presentation and innovation of the dish will be assessed, as well as the correct use of each ingredient in the different stages of its preparation.
4. The dishes must have been created by the participating chefs themselves.

In this stage the 10 recipes to progress to the second stage will be selected

In the second stage, the 10 selected chefs must record their recipe and send it to the Provincial Council by the means specified. These videos must prominently feature the Jaén Selección oils used in the contestants' dishes.

The videos should allow the judges to assess techniques, skills, plating etc. The 3 best recipes will enter into the final.

For the second stage the following rules will be taken into account:

- The time taken in preparing the recipe must not exceed 30 minutes.
- For preparations that require more time, the chef will need the prior authorisation of the judges.
- The oils used in preparing the recipe will appear exclusively in the bottles of each of the brands used.
- Contestants must wear suitable professional clothing. The clothing cannot have any inscription, brand, logo or advertisement.
- The chef will not have an assistant to help prepare the recipe.
- The chef will explain the ingredients used, the techniques employed, the pairing of the chosen oils and, in general, everything that enables the judges to apply the established criteria.
- The location of the recording will preferably be the kitchen of the restaurant where the chef works.
- The Provincial Council may use the recordings to promote the competition.

When recording these videos, the participants will be solely responsible for any breach that may occur of the rights protected by Royal Legislative Decree 1/1996 of 12 April which approves the consolidated text of the Law on Intellectual Property as well as the rights protected by Organic Law 1/1982, of 5 May, on Civil Protection of the right to Freedom from Injury to Honour, Personal and Family Privacy and Self-image, Law 17/2001, of 17 December, on Trademarks and Law 24/2015, of 24 July, on Patents, among others.

The final stage will take place in front of a live audience at a location in Jaén to be determined by the Council. It will feature the three selected chefs in front of a panel of judges and an audience.

In the final, the judges will evaluate the flavour and appearance of the prepared dishes and the chefs' skills in the kitchen.

The Provincial Council will set up all the necessary infrastructure so that the chefs may prepare their dishes in front of the audience. The date and location will be determined in due course, between September and October.

In the final stage, the contestants will have 1 hour to prepare the recipe. They will not have an assistant and will start to cook simultaneously.

Each of the cooking stations will be equipped with a worktop and a stove with at least two hobs. There will be a refrigerator, a sink, a convection oven and a microwave oven to be shared. Any other equipment, together with work utensils and plates will be provided by the Provincial Council of Jaén in accordance with the requirements of each finalist.

Contestants must wear suitable professional clothing: a white chef coat, dark trousers and suitable footwear. The clothing cannot have any inscription, brand, logo or advertisement. Contestants who infringe this rule will be automatically disqualified and expelled from the competition. The organisers will provide an apron with the image of the awards and its sponsors, which the contestants must wear. Appearance, cleanliness when preparing the dishes and conduct on the stand will also be assessed by the panel.

All preparation will be done on-site. The chefs will provide sufficient quantities of all raw ingredients for the preparation of the recipe and to provide portions for the judges and the press. The chosen oils will be provided by the Provincial Council of Jaén.

The Provincial Council will provide both transport to and from the place of residence for each of the finalists, as well as their accommodation during the final stage. This contribution will be made via the credit from contract CO-2016/32, budgetary application 2020.410.9200.22699.

Judges

The number and names of the judges will be established by the President of the Provincial Council of Jaén, and will be published in the Official Gazette (Boletín Oficial, BOP) of the Province of Jaén at least fifteen days before each of the stages of this award. None of the judges will receive any financial recompense for their participation.

The members of the Judging Panel may change at any stage.

The actions of the Judges will be regulated under article 17 of Law 40/2015, of 1 October, on the Legal System applicable to the Public Sector.

The second panel of judges will put forward a winner in accordance with the award criteria contained in this call for entries, within a period of 15 days following the final stage of this award. The judges will be able to declare any of the awards null and void. The proposed Decision of the judges will be passed to the competent body of the Provincial Council of Jaén for it to be awarded in the month following the issuing of the proposal by the judges. In exceptional cases, the decision may differ from that proposed by the Judges, in which case the reasons for the decision must be stated in the competition documentation. The decision will be published in the BOP and in accordance with the provisions of article 45 of Law 39/2015, of 1 November, on the Common Administrative Procedure of the Public Administrations.

As regards the recipes, their photographs and the video, the Council may reserve the rights of publication, retransmission, broadcasting or recording via any system, and may freely and exclusively sell and transfer the aforementioned rights, without limitation, to any person or entity, free of charge. To this end, application for entry will entail the granting of the above-mentioned rights.

The prize will be handed to the winner, who must sign the corresponding document containing their personal details, the amount of the prize and the tax deductions that must be made by law, among other considerations.
